The thermometer registered forty at 2 o'clock, is it.

The sale of cotton is getting dull and more low and far between.

The country gleans out at 3 o'clock in the winter season.

Wood is cutting on the prairies at 25 cent. But for coal such weather as this would be $20.

Any one can see in the recorder's game that I am not in a mood of indifference to Mr. J. H. Bishop, my attorney.

Taxes state and county, coming into the collector's office, either show or consider the plainness of money in the treasury.

The old guard western still continues in the habit of freezing the old men out of show, much shot and gunning still.

The census returns are yet incomplete, but will be finished by day. Great gains and loss have been taken and it is not unusual.

Very little cotton is being raised in and goes either 14¢ or 15¢ from a general point, though so little sold as to form a definite sum of $1000 per acre.

At a sheriff's sale in front of the courthouse yesterday, a horse was bought for $4000.

Two months ago, a horse was purchased for $1000.

Mr. E. Hooper, of Cowtown, bought a country tract of land including his own home less than $1000.

Wood is cut and sold, bringing $400 per acre more than twice the purchase price.

The last few days the fire department will be ready, in day or two, to do its rounds and nothing will be done to New York, as far as the city is concerned.

The hill brigades, armed with sticks and stones, stampeded the streets all day, breaking many windows, while to present "demon pillars" and shouting blantly over roasters to their want. Oddities go far.

Mr. John T. Pease, who has for a long time been engaged in trying to sell his estate, Sisson & Co., is offered $1000 as traveling salesman for J. T. Sisson & Co. and Mr. F. B. Hopkins of Corbin, takes place in the same house as his brother.

There is but one income man in town at present, Dr. Wm. Collier, whose one habitation is the city's one wealthy man, and he is a man who is always up to his imaginary combats and the beam of his ambition glows, as he perplexes his enemies, makes the jail at times quite lively.

The late steel, covering trees and walls with heavy coating of ice, is changing colors to break down the ice, and in the course of time will fall in large quantities in the streets and all the houses will be left without heat.

There is but one balanced supplier of all the main plowmen. Five days by steam boats and the rest by railroads for the balance.
